

End of Ski Season

Well, ski season for me has been over almost a month and I miss it already! I did a trip to Colorado where we went to Vail and Breckenridge, which was SO great. Awesome trip (see my 2013-14 Ski Season Wrap Up post).

And I'm even starting to work on skiing again over the summer now. We have a group that meets a few times during the summer for training and I'm already starting to work on that homework – crazy, right?

I think this summer will go quickly and then I'll be back on skis again. I do plan on going to Chicago to ski over the summer (chicagosnowstudio.com). I might grab John K. and head down there for a weekend or something. And then maybe (just maybe) I can ski in Dubai on my way to India. We'll see!
